

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my deep gratitude to my master thesis advisor, Dr. Hunag, Jr-Tsung. I have learned many things since I became Dr. Huang's student. He spends vary much time instructing me how to write a paper, how to search literature and how to collect data. I am also grateful to Drs. Kao, An-Pang and Wu, Shih-Ying for spending time read this thesis and providing useful suggestions about this thesis. They are all hard-working professors and I believe their academic achievements will continue to increase.

Special thanks are given to Department of International Trade and Graduate Institute of East Asia Studies. Most of my theoretical foundations are built in the Department of International Trade and I learned many Mainland China's history, politic and economic situations at Graduate Institute of East Asia Studies. In addition, I appreciate that a Ph.D. candidate of economics, Lin, Jin-Xyu, helps for programming and solving econometric problems.

During the period of two years, many friends are helpful to color my life. I have to acknowledge all my colleagues in research room 50709 (I must offer my thanks to Sun-Yat Sen Graduate Institute of Social Science and Humanity for providing this research room.) for their assistances in many aspects that I cannot list them all because of limited space. They are Hsu, Cheng-Ji, Tang, Ming-Chung, Yu, Tze-Ying, Su, Hou-Yu and Chen, Hsiao-Ling. I am also grateful to little secretary, Liang, Yi-Ying, because she reduces our burdens in dealing with administrative routines.

Life at graduate institute is not always wonderful. For example, taking in advanced courses and preparing academic conferences are not easy tasks.

Nevertheless, it is lucky for me to meet some friends who inspire my effort to overcome these difficulties. These friends are Kao, Ming-Yu, Liao, Zhen-Hong, Miao, Ko-Huei, and Chen, Szu-Chien.

I would also like to thank all members of Falling Isolated Island (FIS), and Lai, Yan-Jun & Wang, Yu-Chun. They are all my classmates or friends in the Department of International Trade.* We often discuss how to improve the qualities of our papers on the Internet at night. However, the effect is not significant.

Last but not the least important, I owe more than thanks to my family members which includes my parents and an elder brother, for their financial support and encouragement throughout my life. Without their support, it is impossible for me to finish my college and graduate education seamlessly.

* According to the customs of FIS, I cannot list their real names. Except me, the members of FIS include Leader of FIS, Chairman, Ying the big brother, Showmon, Durian, Roro, Mr. Chou the instructor and A Chang.
